How to Apply

What is Edge?

Show us your many talents
and we'll give you the edge that will develop you into an international Deals expert

An exciting graduate programme tailored by PwC Deals across Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA) to launch your career in an international Deals environment.

Being part of Edge means that you'll attend international development events, complete rotations in a number of Deals business units and have access to world class online, professional and technical learning. Where relevant, you'll also receive the support to complete a professional qualification.

How to Apply

Attracting Top Talent

The Edge programme welcomes and encourages applications from a wide range of degree disciplines including business, engineering, mathematics, science, finance, architecture and technology.

Can you see the big picture behind the numbers?

If you can see the big picture behind the numbers, you will love being part of our inspiring Deals team. Your independent, creative and fresh thinking will allow you to develop valuable insights that help your clients.

Are you a problem solver?

If you think that there is no problem that cannot be solved, you will make a fantastic Deals adviser. You will surprise yourself with how good you really are and how quickly you grow!

Are you interested in working within an international team?

You will face all kinds of intellectual questions and you will work within an international team of high performing and talented deal makers, using leading-edge technology to solve some of the most demanding challenges in the Deals environment.

Do you look at things from a different angle?

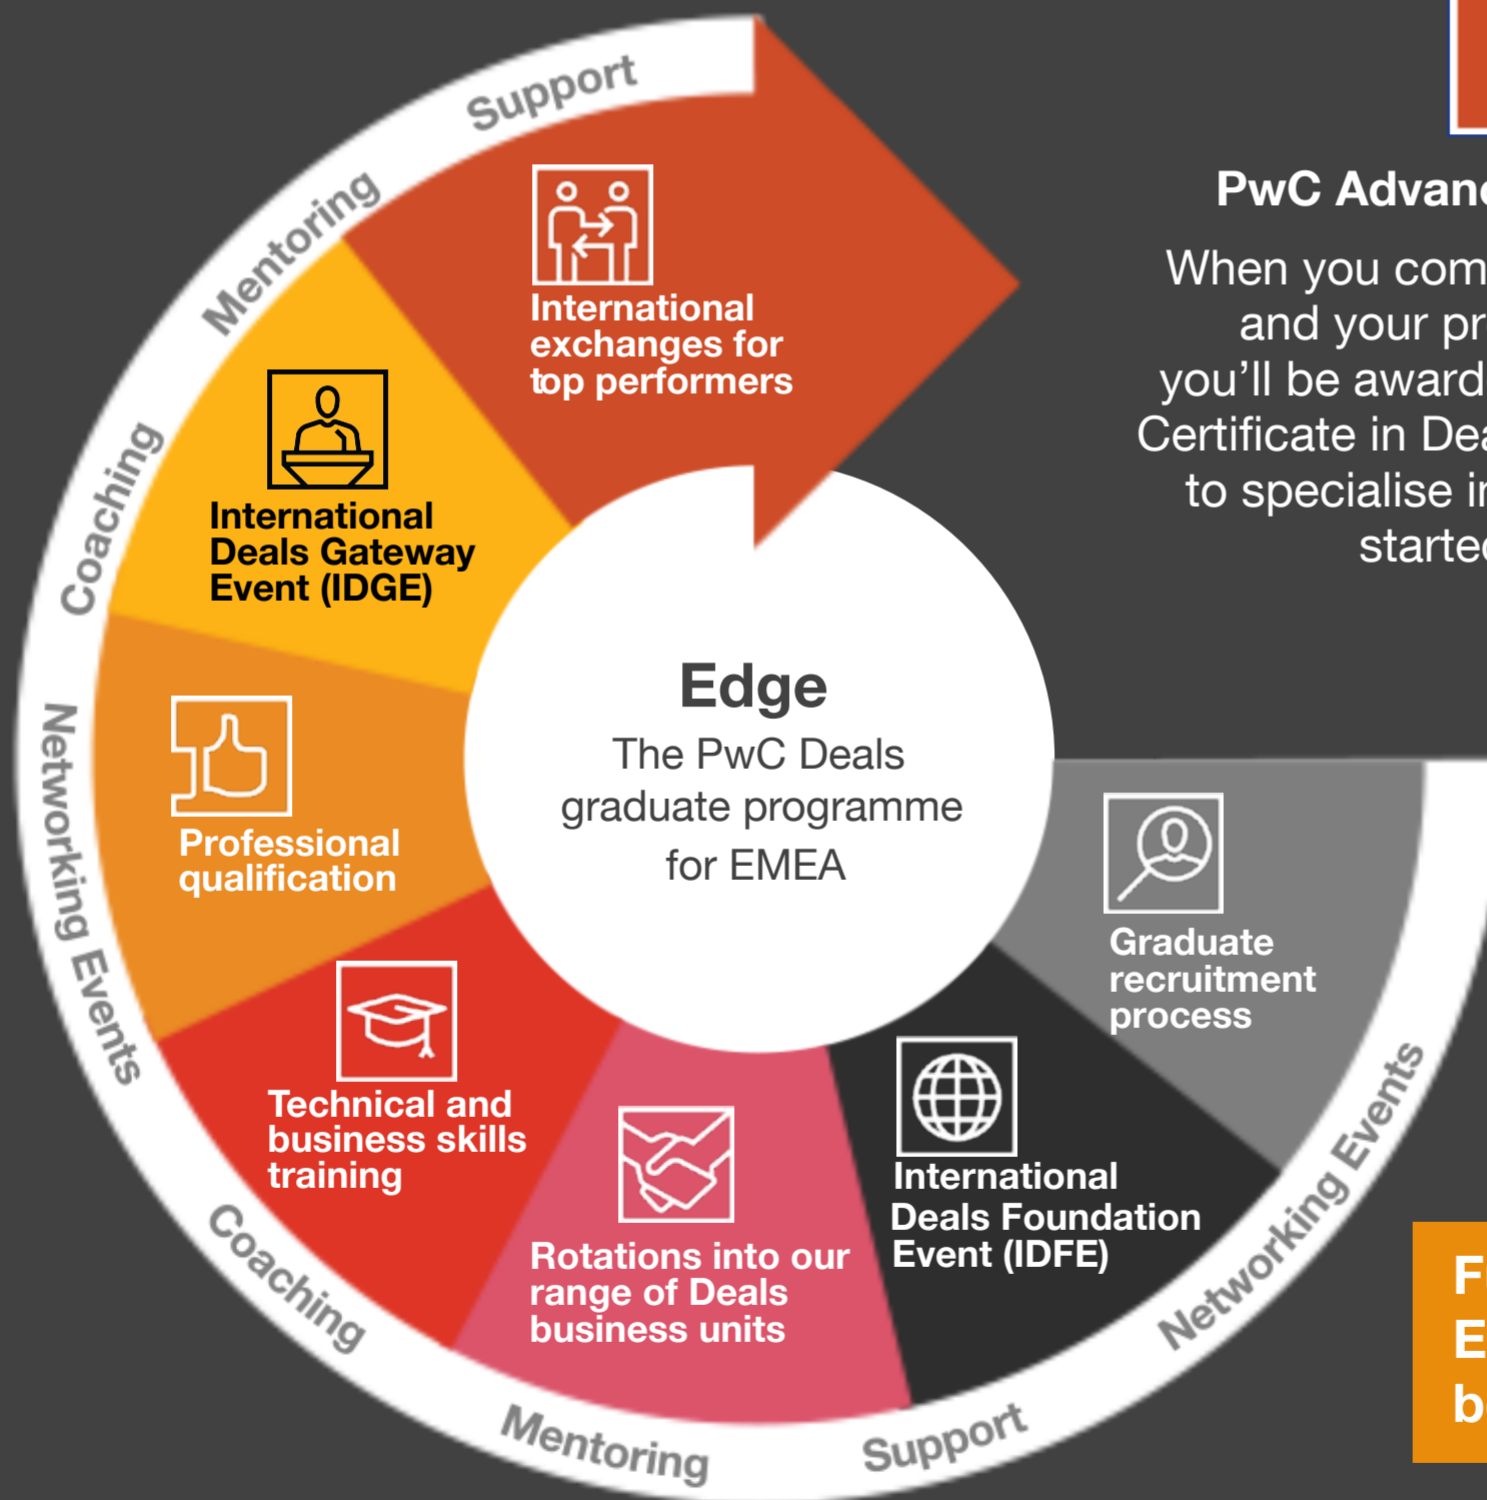

If you look at things from different angles, you will add value along the entire Deal cycle. Add rigorous analysis and perseverance, and you will have amazing opportunities working with other highly skilled and motivated Deals professionals.

Your Edge programme journey

PwC Advanced Certificate in Deals

When you complete the Edge programme and your professional qualification, you'll be awarded with the PwC Advanced Certificate in Deals and have the opportunity to specialise in the area where you have started the Programme.

Further information about the Edge programme journey can be found on the next page.

Graduate recruitment process

The Edge programme welcomes and encourages applications from a wide range of degree disciplines including business, engineering, mathematics, science, finance, architecture and technology. You will participate in a comprehensive graduate assessment and selection process designed to identify top talent by testing both your technical and interpersonal skills.

The Edge programme aims to attract top talent who are diverse, tech forward and who will become the future leaders of our Deals business.

International Deals Foundation Event (IDFE)

Your journey into the Edge programme will officially begin with the International Deals Foundation Event held in El Escorial, Spain. During this week you will meet your fellow Edge participants from a range of territories across EMEA. You will learn about our Deals business and receive world class learning from our experienced Deals Edge faculty. The week is also packed with a busy social programme of activities designed to help you start to build those crucial global networks to support you throughout your career at PwC.

Rotations into our range of Deals Business Units

Rotations are at the core of the Edge programme. You will have the opportunity to rotate through a number of different Deals Business units and gain insight into each. You will be afforded the opportunity to get involved at each stage of the Deal, this will help you identify your areas of interests and strengths as you develop into a well rounded Deals adviser.

Technical and Business Skills training

Throughout your journey you will be offered world-class training and supported by Learning and Development professionals and Deals practitioners. You will have access to different technical and business skills learning during the programme and throughout the overall journey including: virtual monthly learning, face-to-face events, Data and Analytics learning and hot topic webinars.

Professional Qualification

Where applicable, you will be completing a professional qualification that will provide you with the recognised accreditation and the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed within Deals and the global market. The PQ study will help you to achieve a high level of technical expertise.

Recommended PQ studies are CFA, ACA and ACCA.

International Deals Gateway Event (IDGE)

After three years in the programme you will attend The International Deals Gateway Event. This event combines a number of taught inputs, inspirational speakers and thought provoking activities.

You will have exposure to early leadership development and have the opportunity to reflect on key strengths and feedback received during the first three years.

International Exchanges for Top performers

Opportunities will be offered to top performers across EMEA to experience an international rotation to another participating Deals territory. International Exchanges will provide you with the opportunity to strengthen your business and global acumen as well as develop your international networks further.

The Power of Rotations

Throughout this programme you'll have the opportunity to work in a number of our Deals business units and gain experience across our specialisms.

What are the benefits of joining the Edge programme?

You will...

Build knowledge

Build knowledge working in teams in a talent-rich environment, listening and being listened to, helping you choose a specific industry and Deals area you want to specialise in.

Build a professional network

At PwC we recognise the importance of building a professional network. The Edge programme will give you numerous opportunities to develop relationships across PwC teams and beyond your national boundaries, including international events which will prove invaluable during your career at PwC.

Become a leading adviser

Become a leading adviser in our international Deals business. Build a broad experience across the whole Deal cycle by bringing insights from one rotation to the other and adding value to your personal development and to the business.

Experience world class learning

Experience world class learning combining online regular, professional and technical learning with the support to complete a professional qualification (where relevant).

Enhance your technical skills

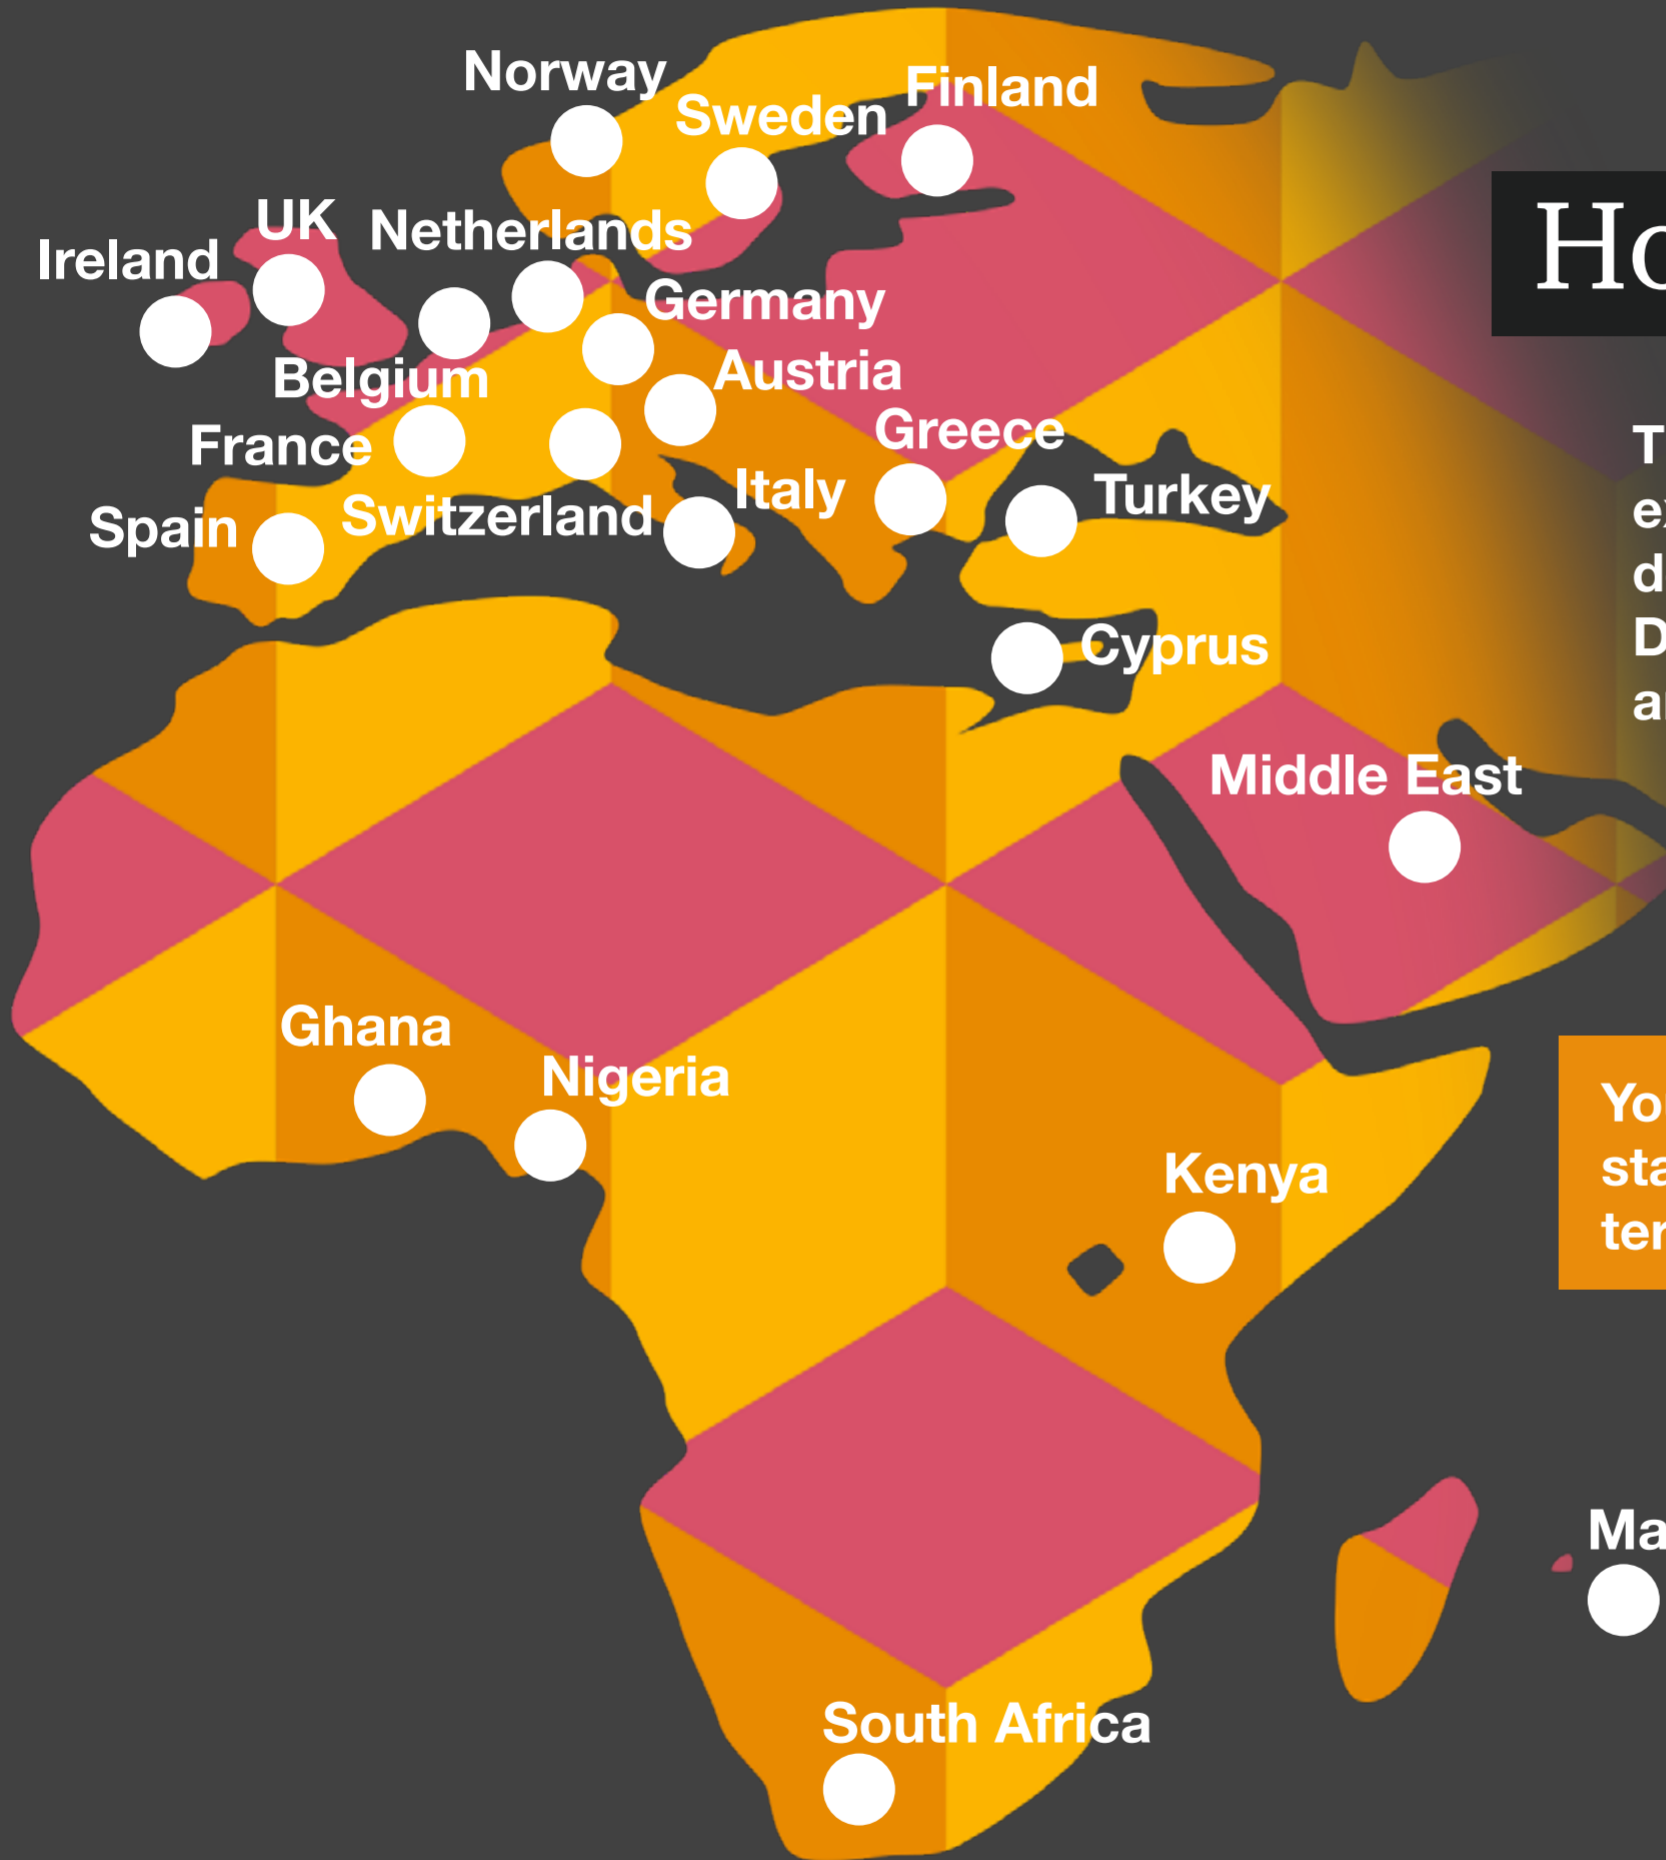

Enhance your technical skills and stay relevant in our ever evolving world of new technologies. You will have access to market leading analytics tools as well as high performing visualisation tools.

Coaching mentoring and support

A key component of the Edge programme is the mentoring and support you will receive throughout your journey. Experienced colleagues will be on hand to support both your personal and professional development and provide the vital pastoral care required to ensure you maximise all of your potential at PwC.
