ESG reporting - Why it's important to your company future

ESG metrics and reporting are fast becoming business imperatives. Stakeholders today are looking for organisations that measure and disclose environment, social, governance as well as financial performance. The current initiatives in Vietnam such as Annual Sustainability Report Award or Vietnam Sustainability Index are well recognised for promoting the best ESG practices among public listed entities. But is it enough to reimagine your organisation's future?

ESG reporting lays the foundation for a compelling story about the impact your company is making in the communities where you operate and for the world. Regardless of where you are in the ESG journey, companies in Vietnam have the distinct opportunity to build long term resilience in all dimensions of business, from strategic decision-making to consolidated reporting of progress and outcomes.

Join us as our speakers share their views that can help you take the next step in your ESG reporting journey in Vietnam.
