Navigating tax and labour measures in response to Covid-19

Co-organisers

Content

The ongoing COVID-19 outbreak has been getting much more complicated at the moment. In many regions and places, isolation and other strict health measures are still being implemented. Due to significant impacts of COVID-19 on businesses and individuals, there have been many changes in tax treatments, finance management and labor related matters as the Government's efforts to minimise possible impacts and remove certain obstacles and difficulties for the employers and employees.

On this occasion, PwC Vietnam and Malaysia Business Chamber are pleased to co-host a webinar to provide the latest updates on the tax and labour measures offered by the Government in response to Covid-19. Given the regulations shall have impacts not only on the business organisations but also on the employees, this webinar shall be suitable for the management level.
